(light music) - Welcome to Creativebug, your new favorite destination for art and craft videos with thousands of classes taught by top designers and artists. We crank out new classes every day so you'll never run out of inspiration or projects, no matter how much time or skill you have. Starting your subscription is easy. Every subscriber gets their own personal profile so you can choose your favorite topics and tell us what crafts you're most interested in learning. There are several ways you can have fun exploring the site, through the groupings of seasonal and popular classes we've rounded up on the home page, or by searching classes in our search bar. You can also check out everything the site has to offer by clicking on classes and filtering the results until you find just what you wanna make. Each class is broken down into bite-size video segments and comes with a detailed materials list. You can write notes to yourself, add favorite classes to your watch list, and watch classes with closed captioning. Perfect for crafting on the go. Best of all, you can share photos of your creations in our student galleries and leave comments for the instructor and other students. From the personalized home page, you can easily access classes on your watch list and anything you've recently viewed. Don't forget to checkout what other Creativebug students are making in our site-wide inspiration feed. No matter where your journey takes you, Creativebug will be your crafty companion every step of the way.
